SUMMER 2019

FOX NEWS INTERVIEWS CREATED EQUAL OUTREACH TEAM MEMBER AUSTIN BEIGEL
AFTER THE ASSAULT AT UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA (CHAPEL HILL, NC)

THE PRO-ABORTION SPRING

For years, we have documented violence from abortion advocates against young members of our team. But Spring of 2019 nevertheless saw a shocking increase in pro-abortion attacks.

At the University of North Carolina (Chapel Hill, NC), a pro-abortion feminist punched Austin, one of our newest outreach team members, in the face. Even more shocking than the assault was what happened next. Students surrounded the perpetrator to hug and comfort her, and a campus administrator approached to blame us. She said, "You were instigating . . . I wish you weren't out here triggering young women. I hope you do better in life." Thankfully, the rule of law reigned. Law enforcement apprehended the student. She is awaiting trial.

Just days later on the same campus, another student stole one of our signs. She was arrested and charged with larceny. Next, a man at a pro-abortion protest of pro-life legislation told our team that pro-lifers "should be shot."

Created Equal's JumboTron brings the power of video to the masses to show what abortion does to young humans.

Mark Harrington, Created Equal's President and Founder, with Janet Porter, President of Faith2Action and author of the Heartbeat Bill, on the day the bill was passed in Ohio's statehouse.

OUR RESPONSE TO VIOLENCE: JUMBOTRONS

While our team was facing violence on the streets, even greater violence was being celebrated in statehouses on the east coast as legislators in New York, Virginia, and other states passed or considered bills to protect grisly late-term abortions.

Facing attacks and seeing legislators protect killing nearly full-term babies, Created Equal's response is not to retreat. Instead, we do more to expose the violence of abortion.

This summer, we're taking our JumboTron TV on a tour through states passing late-term abortion bills to show the public what their legislators are protecting—the brutal killing of little people.

So long as abortion is legal, the public must see the truth!

GOOD NEWS: HEARTBEAT BILLS PASSING ACROSS NATION

The year Created Equal was founded, a first-of-its-kind bill was proposed in the Ohio statehouse—the Heartbeat Bill—to ban abortion after the baby's heartbeat can be detected (5-6 weeks).

For years, the bill was stymied by representatives of the GOP or pro-life establishment. But the author of the bill, Janet Porter of Faith2Action, never wavered. Created Equal joined Janet by leading public outreach efforts, testifying for the bill in committee, assisting in rallies, and much more.

After eight years, the bill was finally signed into law this spring!

And now at least 15 other states have introduced similar bills. Is there a Heartbeat Bill in your state? If not, introduce one!

THIS SUMMER: JOIN CREATED EQUAL'S DAY OF ACTION

We often hear people say they would love to join a Justice Ride, but they cannot get away for a week. So this summer, we're introducing a sort of "crash course" Justice Ride: Created Equal's Day of Action! Details:
